

SOLID WOOD

PROVIDES A CLASS ACT THAT'S HARD TO FOLLOW

THE TRULY SUPERIOR STYLE of these homes in Auckland, Warkworth, Kopu / Thames, and Whitianga are indicative of the class that Touchwood Homes apply to their projects world wide.

The distinctive detail that is key to the elite form of these homes is Touchwood Homes' solid wood wall system. This innovative solid wood building system brings the elegance of solid wood into the realms of the highly affordable.

The concept behind this innovation is simple: combine conventional floor and roof construction with a solid wood interior/exterior wall system to create a very stylish, yet practical and economical building structure.

The system gives homebuyers the opportunity to build with solid wood, whilst offering a design and flexibility in style that is unprecedented.

The advantages that Touchwood Homes' solid wood interior/exterior wall system offers to homeowners are innumerable. Compared to other interior finishes, the Touchwood system is easy to clean and easy to coat. The soft, sleek lines of the Touchwood interior allow the owners ease of colour selection for interior décor.

Strength and durability are inherent advantages of the system. The entire system is founded on a special wallboard design that easily screws together to create a very strong, modern and durable finished wall surface.

In addition, a nifty, installer-friendly building innovation means that the bugbear of finding the right spot for power points is made simple. The system creates a channel between the boards with holes in the ends, through which wiring can be inserted horizontally allowing infinite variety in power point locations - just one more way to make the building process

Touchwood CEO Corgi La Grouw says the cost of a Touchwood home is competitive in comparison to other solid wood building systems because of the design of the board profile and its clever cutting technology that lowers costs and minimises wastage.

Mr La Grouw has over 35 years experience in solid wood construction. He says that Touchwood Homes, a two-year-old company, is already well established in the North Island eastern regions, with the South Island franchise commencing construction of show homes in the next four weeks.

The versatility of Touchwood Homes has been displayed already by the variety of designs built to date. Not only is the Touchwood system smooth and stylish, its durability is such that it will be ideal for a graceful urban home or an ideal lifestyle retreat or the perfect low maintenance beach house. Mr La Grouw says he expects the revitalisation of coastal housing to coincide with the rebirth of solid timber housing, making Touchwood Homes the ideal beach house option for New Zealanders.
